OLD IS NEW AGAIN!

In addition to the new Pokémon that were introduced in Pokémon Black Version and Pokémon White Version, you'll quickly encounter some favorite Pokémon from previous regions. Now the Unova region contains a mix of many different Pokémon, which means a new Pokédex that needs to be filled!

But first things first: you have to choose your Pokémon to begin your journey and become the best Trainer in Unova!

REMEMBER SNIVY, TEPIG, AND OSHAWOTT?

They're back to help you! Each one is really different from the others, so think carefully about which one to choose, and get ready to battle the Gym Leaders!

SNIVY

GRASS

Snivy is a Grass-type Pokémon, which means it has an advantage in battles against Water-type and Ground-type Pokémon.

TEPIG

FIRE

As a Fire-type Pokémon, Tepig is strong in battles against Grass-type and Ice-type Pokémon.

OSHAWOTT

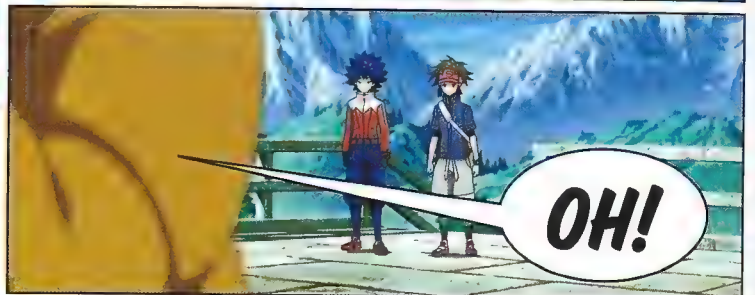

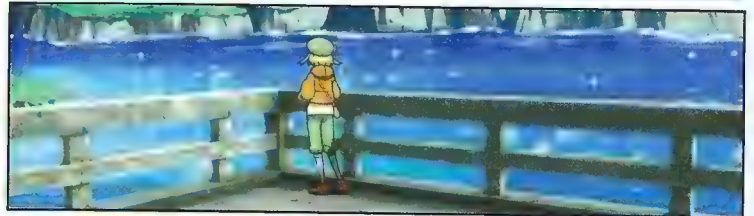

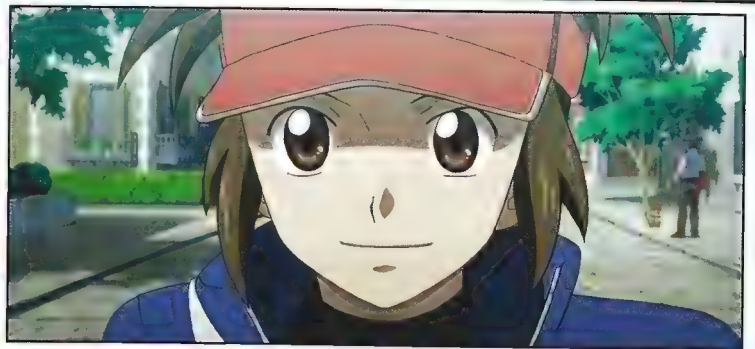

WATER

Oshawott is a Water-type Pokémon, so it knows moves that are super effective against Fire-type and Rock-type Pokémon in battle.

But who are these people and what are their plans?

MYSTERIOUS N

The mysterious N, former leader of Team Plasma, has split from them, and now seeks to make amends for his misguided actions in the past. The former Team Plasma members who remain loyal to N support his goal of saving all Pokémon.

GHETISIS

Revealed as the mastermind behind Team Plasma in Pokémon Black Version and Pokémon White Version, Ghetsis now leads the new incarnation of Team Plasma, whose goal is to kidnap other Trainers' Pokémon and ultimately take over the Unova region.

COLRESS

You'll first encounter Colress in the sewer system beneath Castelia City. He's an ambitious scientist who researches Pokémon and wants to bring out their full power.

While figuring out Team Plasma's plans, you'll be able to improve your Trainer skills and help your Pokémon grow by competing in Gym battles throughout Unova.

Tuck in a Pokémon in your game and it will appear in the Pokémon Dream World, where you can befriend more Pokémon, find cool items, and grow Berries. Then use Game Sync to bring these new Pokémon and items to your game!

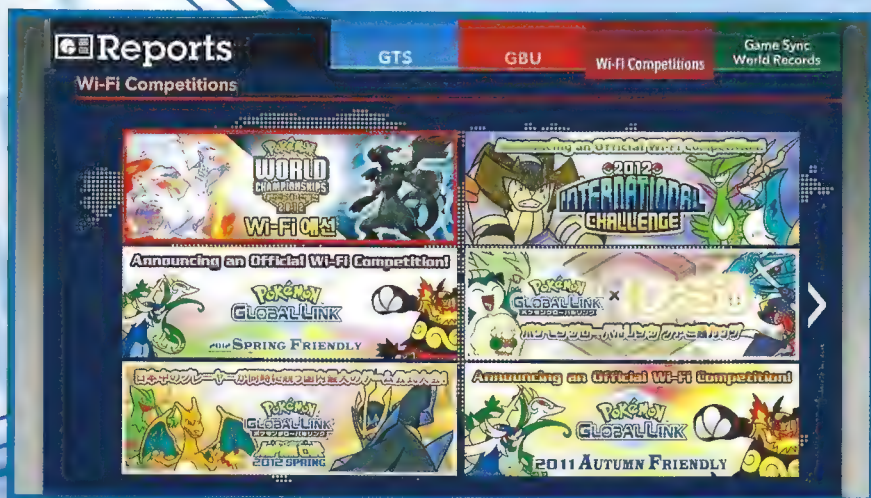

Using the Pokémon Global Link is simple. First, tuck in your Pokémon in your copy of the new Pokémon Black Version 2 or Pokémon White Version 2 game to send it to the Pokémon Global Link. Then, hop onto your computer and sign in to the Pokémon Global Link using your Pokémon Trainer Club account. Have fun playing at the Pokémon Global Link!

GLOBAL BATTLE UNION

After playing Wi-Fi Competition battles with your copy of Pokémon Black Version 2 or Pokémon White Version 2, keep track of your worldwide Ranking and Rating at the Global Battle Union (GBU)!

Try to offer a Pokémon that has a similar value to the one you're looking for. If you offer a commonly found Pokémon in exchange for a Mythical Pokémon like Darkrai, that isn't likely to be accepted! But you could try sweetening the deal by having your Pokémon hold a cool item.

ELEMENTS OF A POKÉMON CARD

Every Pokémon card has six main parts. Take a look!

Evolution Stage: Kyurem-EX is a Basic Pokémon. No known Pokémon-EX evolve into Stage 1 Pokémon.

Pokémon Type: Pokémon can be one of 10 types: Grass (🌿), Fire (🔥), Water (💧), Lightning (⚡), Psychic (🧠), Fighting (👊), Colorless (⬜), Darkness (🌑), Metal (🔩), or with the release of Black & White—Dragons Exalted, Dragon type (🐉)! Kyurem-EX is a Water-type Pokémon.

HP: Kyurem-EX has a lot of HP, so it is tough to Knock Out!

Attacks: Frozen Wings and Hail Blizzard are the Pokémon's attacks in the game.

Weakness, Resistance, and Retreat: Kyurem-EX is in trouble when facing Metal-type Pokémon—they do double damage! Kyurem-EX can retreat for a cost of any 3 Energy.

Collector Number and Rarity: Each card in the set has a number, so you'll know when you have them all. You can also find checklists online or in special booster packs. The rarity symbols tell you how hard it is to find some cards. The most often-seen rarities are common cards (●), uncommon cards (◆), rare cards (★), rare Ultra cards (★U), and Holo rare cards (★H), which are easily identified by the shiny foil look on the entire card.

BECOME A POKÉMON TRAINER IN NO TIME!

One of the easiest ways to learn to play the Pokémon Trading Card Game or to find new opponents in the Pokémon video games is to visit stores or League locations and find out when they hold their Pokémon League meetings.

LEARN TO PLAY!

Many shops hold a Pokémon night once a week. It's a great way to meet new people and learn to play—and win prizes for playing! To find a local League location, check online at Pokemon.com/play. More than 70 locations in the U.S. offer League and Tournament play!

EARN COOL PRIZES!

The prizes at Pokémon Leagues include special promo cards and cool Pokémon items, and you can earn some of them just by showing up! Other prizes are reserved for the winners, for players who have attended multiple Tournament nights, or for local and city championships.

TEST YOUR SKILLS!

Once you know the basics, step up and join the community of players at the official Pokémon Tournaments for the TCG and video games. These tournaments take place all year round, and provide a challenge for a city or country—even the World Championships!

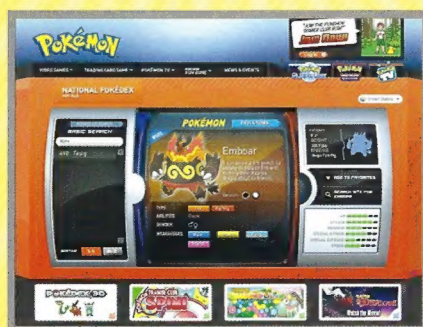

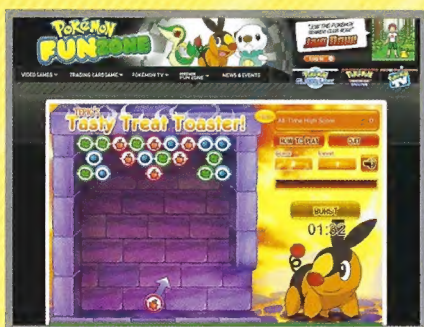

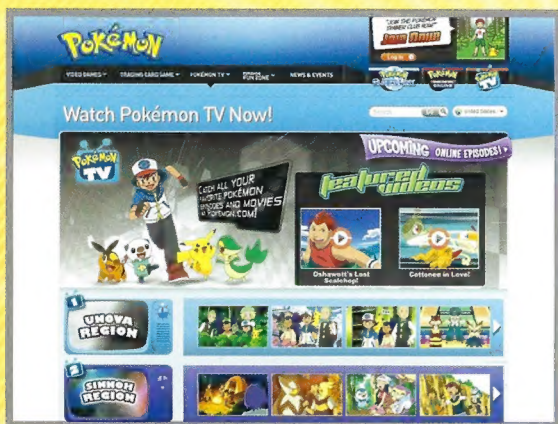

As you might expect, the rewards at the larger tournaments are correspondingly bigger, including trophies, cool Pokémon gear, trips, and even a scholarship at the World Championships!
Visit Pokemon.com/play to find local gatherings and tournaments, and to learn about the rewards you can earn!
